

A Little WhoPunt?

We at Scribes know how grateful we are for the occasional distraction. Especially when we have melted our eyeballs to the screen in the course of a long working day, so we hope you enjoy.

We love this! That incredibly prolific author (anon) has been at it again.

We all know that communication is a keystone of good business, but we can easily overlook something as simple as proof-reading a document before it is sent. A single word in the wrong place, or one spelt incorrectly, can completely alter the meaning or intent of your message.

This fantastic wordplay is, perhaps, a very clever reminder of the importance of being careful. It also proves your average spell-checker is not as infallible as we all like to think! Enjoy.

Eye halve a spelling checker;
It came with my pea sea.
It plainly marks four my revue,
Miss steaks eye kin knot sea.

Eye strike a key and type a word,
And weight four it two say,
Weather eye am wrong oar write;
It shows me strait a weigh.

As soon as a mist ache is maid,
It nose bee fore two long.
And eye can put the error rite;
Its rare lea ever wrong.

Eye have run this poem threw it;
I am shore your pleased two no,
Its letter perfect awl the weigh.
My spell checker tolled me sew!
